

NETWORK FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF AGRICULTURAL
COOPERATIVES IN ASIA & THE PACIFIC (NEDAC), BANGKOK

Gender Mainstreaming for Sustainable Development of Cooperatives

in connection with the International Day of Cooperatives

Monday
July 10

3:00 – 4:00 PM
(Bangkok Time, GMT +7)

The International Day of Cooperatives is an annual celebration observed on the first Saturday of July every year. It is a global occasion dedicated to recognizing and promoting the importance of cooperatives in socio-economic development. Under the theme, Cooperatives for sustainable development, this year marks the 29th International Day of Cooperatives recognized by the United Nations and the 101st International Cooperative Day since its proclamation in 1923.

Speaker:

Prof. Kyoko Kusakabe
Asian Institute of Technology,
Thailand

Kyoko Kusakabe is Professor of Gender and Development Studies, School of Environment, Resources and Development, Asian Institute of Technology, Thailand. Her work focuses on gender analysis of labor migration and women in the informal economy. Her current work centers around social reproduction of migrant workers, women migrant workers under special economic zones and cross border investments, as well as migration as survival strategies for fishing communities. She co-authored a book, Thailand's Hidden Workforce: Burmese migrant women factory workers (Zed Books) with Ruth Pearson and co-edited, Gender, mobilities and livelihood transformations (Routledge).